

Merge Course

Instructors who teach multiple sections of the same course may prefer to manage those sections through a single master course with associated child courses.

In the course listing, master and child courses are always displayed together, with child courses indicated by an up arrow in the status column, pointing to the master course. New content must be managed from the master course. Child courses are marked as unavailable, but can be managed through the master course.

To request merging (cross listing) of courses, submit the online form at the following web link:
